

Lapwai Elementary School Parent Newsletter

February 2019

The Great Kindness Challenge is always a week to celebrate at Lapwai Elementary! Hearts, cards, notes, posters, and kind acts were overflowing as students were challenged to do as many kind acts as possible throughout the week. Our Spirit Days gave kids the opportunity to show their commitment to being a kind kid! Kindness Matters!

Social Media and Your Children

Parents—do you have questions or concerns about social media and your children? Snapchat, Instagram, Musical.ly, Ask.fm, tbh, are they safe? Could my child get addicted to social media? How can I monitor my child's internet activity? Are they protected from on-line predators? What about cyber-bullying? What are the worst social media apps my child should not use? How do I engage my kids on these topics? Check out this website:

www.smartsocial.com

Scroll down to the bottom and sign up for their free email newsletter with links every week to help you and your child navigate social media, learn which apps are safe and which are not, discover the hidden dangers of the apps most used by kids and teens. Sign up for a free webinar to learn more about all of these topics and more! Be a socially smart and safe parent and guide your children to be socially smart and safe on-line!

Family Engagement

What does "Family Engagement" mean to you? Well, what family engagement means to me is spending time every day helping my children do their homework, read with and to them, and play games with them. Jenga is our favorite game we play as a family. It is my way to support my children's learning and development. It is a wonderful feeling to witness and be a part of all the progress they each have made. My eldest daughter loves to help her younger siblings with their homework. She also enjoys reading books to them.

I would like to invite and encourage parents to join the Family Engagement Team and be a part of establishing and maintaining positive relationships with your children and their school. Be a part of your child's progress and accomplish change together in meaningful ways. -Julianna Wheeler

Valentine Parties, Thursday, Feb. 14th. Please contact your student's teacher for specific times. Lapwai School District's Healthy Eating Policy encourages school parties to have healthy snacks and treats. Please only bring what your child's teacher has assigned to you. Thank you!!
